

Rate of Acceleration/Deceleration of Technology Adoption, By Country

2007 Data. Acceleration/deceleration measures the rate at which technology adoption exceeds (or falls below) expectations for the country's level of GDP. Rates have been averaged across three technologies: mobile phones, PC's, and internet users.

Countries that have no data available have been assigned a '0'. Please see full report for details.